

Dialtones

Technical realization diagram

The audience is the orchestra. participants come pre-equipped with their own instruments, or borrow an instrument for the event.

The audience is the active score. when an instrument is activated, a spot of light is simultaneously cast onto it from the video projector, above. Instrumentalists may observe themselves in a 12-meter wide mirror, opposite. Participants also hold small keychain devices (E), which light up when near a ringing phone.

