

Description

WMS

@2000 is an experimental design website challenges browsers technology. Its smart way of integration of art and technology made @2000 one of the most electrified and unique website today. Unlike other wacky web technology site, @2000 beautifully balanced artistic side and technology side. Using implementation of Javascript, DHTML, and Flash achieve the brand new style of web design/entertainment.

Highlight:

"4" uses Javascript and FS_Command to control flash animation between window and window to achieve unpredictable and beautiful execution.

"9" features combination of real windows and fake windows to create unique animation.

"206" uses variety of Javascript and DHTML techniques to achieve something no one ever thought of.

"1999" features synchronized animation between window and window.

Biography

Ichiro Aikawa is a Japanese web designer, living in Seattle. His work has been featured on Word, Shift, Drunktank, Archinect, and Communication Arts Online.