

Artist's biography

Born in Portland, Oregon, USA in 1957, Daniel Pirofsky has studied philosophy at Reed College; apprenticed with poets Allen Ginsberg, William S. Burroughs, Gregory Corso and Philip Whalen; written several small books of poetry and philosophy; lived in Mexico City and Hiroshima, Japan; completed a degree in Buddhist studies at Naropa Institute; studies and practices with the Tibetan meditation master Lama Sogyal Rinpoche; and currently works in the area of Macintosh color and printing technologies. He is also developing a system to effectively publish Tibetan texts and study materials in the original script and in translation with Macintosh computers.