

Steve Goldberg

Biography

Steve is currently an animator and manager of the character animation group at PDI. After earning a B.S. degree in Computer Science from California State University, Northridge, Steve worked as a technical director at both Robert Abel and Associates and Digital Productions in Los Angeles. Steve came on board with Pacific Data Images in early 1987, and enjoys working on projects with complex models and motion. In addition to his normal production animation, he recently produced, directed, modelled and animated (with help from other PDI staff) a longer format character animation called "Locomotion" which is being shown in numerous film festivals and is receiving international recognition.
